Greetings,

Speaking as a past client and current realtor whose seller clients have used Everything Organized, it gives me great pleasure to write in recommendation of the company, applauding their professional and outstanding service.

Two years ago I was in the process of downsizing my household; after years of being a pack-rat. Everything Organized entered in, assessed my situation, gave me a written plan of action, and provided me a perfect solution. I was informed how long the process would take and its cost. I was very impressed with their step-by-step system. I had a solution that not only remedied my immediate problem; it provided me with an ongoing maintenance and organization process, so I don't let the pack-rat loose again.

Last summer, an elderly couple, clients of mine, needed to sell their home also obtained the service of Everything Organized. They too were thrilled with the service they received. It was the best thing they did as their home of 12 years was overwhelmingly cluttered from top to bottom. The friendly, skilled staff provided clear and effective solutions to help the couple. They communicated with me as the listing agent. I was made aware when the home service was completed and what preparations for an estate sale were in place (if needed). This was very helpful to me when creating a sales plan and scheduling open houses to market the property. The transformation of the home from an uninviting place with no space to walk, to a pleasant and tidy home enhanced the value of the home.

I appreciated Everything Organized's professionalism, attention to cleaning detail and reliability to see a project through on time and on budget, making my job that much easier. The key to their success was building trust with me because they could get the job done better and less expensive than if I or the sellers tried to solve the problem on our own.

I have no doubt that Everything Organized will make a tremendous impact on any prospective sellers who do not have time or the capability to get a disorganized home to a ready-to-sell stage in a timely and effective manner.

Sincerely
